IMPORTANT INFORMATION

- Private travel is insured worldwide for up to 90 days maximum and must include at least one overnight stay away from the residence and one return trip.
- Insurance coverage also applies to travel services which were booked up to six months before the start of the insurance policy if the insured event occurs after the insurance begins.
- Insurance coverage is provided regardless of whether the travel was paid for by card.
- The person who has taken out the collective insurance agreement with the issuer is insured (principal cardholder). The following people are also insured persons:
 - any additional cardholders;

- the principal or additional cardholder's spouses, cohabiting partners, minor children and minor foster children (regardless of whether they live in the same household with the principal/additional cardholder);
- the following people living in the same household with the principal or additional cardholder: parents, grandparents, adult children and grandchildren.
- The travel insurance is valid for one year. Unless canceled, the policy is always implicitly extended by one month afterwards.
- The insurer is European Travel Insurance ERV, a branch of Helvetia Swiss Insurance Company Ltd, based at Basel, Switzerland.

INSURANCE AGREEMENT

- I have carefully read and understood the enclosed General Terms and Conditions of Insurance and the information for persons insured under collective insurance. I accept them without reservation, specifically with regards to the sharing of data (section III., point 11 in the General Terms and Conditions of Insurance).
- The monthly premium will be debited directly from my card account.
- The card issuer brokers applications for the collective insurance agreement between the card issuer and insurer, which are only offered to principal
- cardholders. In addition, it deals with any administrative work associated with processing the insurance coverage (e.g. managing agreements, collecting premiums, claims administration, statistics). The card issuer is compensated by the insurer for resulting personnel, technical (e.g. IT infrastructure) and any other expenses associated with the brokerage and processing of insurance coverage. The compensation is in line with the usual market remuneration for the provided services.
- I acknowledge the card issuer's claim to this remuneration paid by the insurer.
